Summer School

Campus Hamburg

2026

Beyond the Classroom – Where Creativity Meets Culture

University of Europe for Applied Sciences

UE Summer School Hamburg Analogue Film 24–30 August 2026

Spend one inspiring week in Hamburg and experience student life in one of Europe's most exciting creative cities.

This Summer School gives you the opportunity to combine hands-on workshops, creative exploration, and cultural discovery while experiencing life and study in Germany first-hand. Hosted at the University of Europe for Applied Sciences Hamburg campus, the programme invites you to expand your creative practice in a European university environment and gain fresh inspiration.

Professional studio spaces, expert guidance, and the city itself become part of your creative process. Explore Hamburg's cultural scene, discover its distinctive neighbourhoods and waterfront, and take home new ideas, new perspectives, and memories from a truly life-enriching summer in Europe.

Why choose the UE Summer School?

- Vibrant cultural life in Hamburg
- Curated Cultural and Social Programme
- Hands on creative Workshops
- Comprehensive on-site support
- International network opportunities
- Budget-Friendly Participation Fee

Analogue Film: Hands-On and Experimental

Throughout the week, you will combine hands-on studio workshops with inspiring activities across the city, while still having free time to discover Hamburg at your own pace.

Working with the medium of analogue film in collaboration with Analogfilmwerke Hamburg, you will explore creative experimentation, visual storytelling, and collaborative making in an open and supportive environment. The programme is practice-based, flexible, and designed to welcome students from a wide range of creative and academic backgrounds.

No prior experience is required – just curiosity, creativity, and a willingness to explore new ways of working.

Experience the City Together

The Summer School extends far beyond the studio. A curated cultural programme introduces you to Hamburg's creative energy through museum visits, city walks, harbour explorations, and group activities. Experiencing a different city, culture, and academic environment offers the opportunity to broaden your perspective, discover new sources of inspiration, and see your own creative practice in a new light.

It is a chance to step outside your usual routine, immerse yourself in the atmosphere of Hamburg, and create lasting memories through an enriching summer experience.

Join Us in Hamburg

Participation fee:
UE Students: €400 External Students €475.

The fee includes:
- Summer School participation
- Workshop materials and studio resources
- Curated cultural and social programme
- Welcome party and farewell brunch

Information on accommodation options and local transport will be provided upon request.

Requirements:
- Enrolment at a UE partner university
- English language proficiency
- Interest in creative disciplines
- Openness to intercultural exchange

Information session: 24 June 2026 11.00h

Whether you want to expand your portfolio, explore new media, or spend a creative summer in Germany, this programme is de-signed for you. We look forward to welco-ming you to Hamburg.

Contact: international@ue-germany.de