DAAD

Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst

Chung-Ang University the only in Korea to host DAAD research center

The Center for German and European Studies (Zentrum für Deutschland- und Europastudien, ZeDES) at Chung-Ang-University in Seoul is a renowned research facility which was selected by the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) for an exclusive funding program. It stands out due to excellent contributions in research and education in the field of German and European Studies.

Research Units

ZeDES fosters three main research units, with their focus dedicated towards “Modern History of Germany”, “Critical Theory of the Frankfurt School”, and “German Literature of the 20th and 21st Century”. Renowned scholars in the field of history, philosophy, social science, and German studies from different Korean universities are joined together to contribute their expertise to these research units.

Cooperating German Universities

Advanced Fields CAU is Expanding Its Research Capabilities

IceCube Collaboration

The IceCube Neutrino Observatory, the world's largest neutrino detector, located at the South Pole, is an international consortium of over 350 scientists from 58 institutions across 14 countries. The international team is responsible for the scientific program, and many of the collaborators contributed to the design and construction of the detector.

The observatory comprises of a cubic-kilometer array of optical sensors embedded deep within Antarctic ice, designed to detect high-energy neutrinos originating from cosmic sources.

Chung-Ang University

Research Publication Incentives Policy

To improve the ability of researchers by encouraging the publication of high-quality research papers, and to strengthen the external competitiveness of Chung-Ang University by rewarding international collaboration and high citations, a jointly appointed professors at CAU may be eligible for incentive benefits if the scientific affiliation specified in the published research paper is under "Chung-Ang University" and the research paper is published in academic journals ranked in the top 10% in the Web of Science database – SCIE, SSCI or A&HCI.

Purpose of the Incentive Benefits

- 1

Improve the ability of researchers by encouraging the publication of high-quality research papers.
- 2

Strengthen the external competitiveness of Chung-Ang University by rewarding international collaborations and high citations.

Requirements for Granting the Incentive Benefits

- 1

Faculty or researchers from other universities or research institutes who hold continuing appointments in their home institutions will be jointly appointed as a professor at Chung-Ang University. A joint appointment professor is eligible for incentive benefits.
- 2

The scientific affiliation specified in the published research paper must be "Chung-Ang University."
- 3

The research paper should be published in academic journals ranked in the top 10% in the Web of Science database (SCIE, SSCI, or A&HCI).

Amount of Incentive Benefits

- The incentives below are all based on a single first/corresponding author.

If two or more professors of Chung-Ang University are the first/corresponding authors, the incentive will be divided by the number of first/corresponding authors from the university.

If there is no first/corresponding author from Chung-Ang University, one-fifth of the incentive below will be granted to the co-authors.

1. For Journal Publishing
